ciQc 2018 Sponsorship Program

Building towards Canadian Immunohistochemistry Quality Control

The Canadian Immunohistochemistry Quality Control (ciQc) program is committed to systematically monitoring and improving the proficiency of immunohistochemistry (IHC) and molecular testing both nationally and internationally. The organization distributes IHC and ISH challenges to laboratories, assesses participant staining and provides an anonymized summary of laboratory performance. ciQc publishes in academic journals, provides clinical and technical support to all participants, and collaborates with our industry partners.
